Local Contractor Garners National Recognition

Earlier this month, Schroer & Sons General Contracting, LLC of Sidney, OH was honored with the 2016 Superstar Award by their metal roofing supplier, Classic Metal Roofing Systems. This award is given to only a few roofing contractors across North America who exemplify superior customer service and quality. Ryan Schroer accepted the award on behalf of their organization at Classic Metal Roofing Systems' Metal Roofing Summit in Piqua, Ohio.

Classic Metal Roofing Systems' President, Todd Miller, praised Schroer & Sons General Contracting, LLC, "Every year, Schroer & Sons General Contracting, LLC sets an example for home improvement contractors across the country in their care for customers and quality installations. We are honored that they choose to partner with us to serve homeowners in their area."

Classic Metal Roofing Systems sells its metal roofing systems through a network of independent dealers across North America. Each year these dealers meet at Classic Metal Roofing Systems's facility in Piqua, Ohio for intense training in order to better serve homeowners across North America.

Miller continues, "We relish the opportunity to honor Schroer & Sons General Contracting, LLC as they continue to set an example for the entire industry. This is a company that truly excels at what they do."

Classic Metal Roofing Systems has been manufacturing "the world's most beautiful metal roofs" since 1980. They have a wide breadth of products that create beautiful facsimiles of traditional shakes, shingles, slates, and tiles.
